Therefore, this matter will not be referred to a Magistrate Judge for the purposes of exploring ADR at this time. The parties have agreed on a mediator and reserved the earliest date available for the mediation, May 9, 2016.

4. Discovery.

a. Scope of Fact Discovery.

i. Plaintiffs' Proposal. Plaintiffs assert that discovery will be needed on at least the following subjects:

1. The facts and circumstances surrounding Defendant's creation and implementation of an HTML code to circumvent Safari users' default blocking settings;
2. All documents produced to any state attorney(s) general regarding the HTML code and the fine(s) paid by Google to such states and/or state attorneys general;
3. All information that Defendant contends reflects user consent to the Defendant-generated HTML form and subsequent third-party cookie placement on the users' computers;
4. Communications with, to, and between Defendant and users related to the complained-of conduct, including, but not limited to, Defendant's use of HTML form that permitted avoidance of the Safari browser default blocking of third-party cookies;
5. All facts and circumstances relevant to class certification of Plaintiffs' claims and causes of action as asserted in the Complaint; and
6. Google's position that its complained-of conduct did not violate the FTC consent decree into which it entered with the FTC.

ii. Defendant's Proposal. Defendant will need discovery on the following topics:

1. Plaintiffs' understanding and expectations regarding the placement of Google cookies on their browsers during the relevant time period;

2. Whether Plaintiffs ever personally viewed the alleged misrepresentation described in CAC ¶ 79;

3. The existence and methods of placement of DoubleClick ID Cookies and Intermediary Cookies on Plaintiffs' Safari browsers during the relevant time period, including inspection of the devices on which Plaintiffs allege Google placed cookies;

4. The operation and programming of the Safari browser during the relevant time period;

6. Any damages flowing from the alleged invasion of privacy;
and

7. Plaintiffs' adequacy to serve as putative class representatives and potential conflicts between Plaintiffs and the alleged putative class.

b. Timing of Discovery. The parties may commence fact discovery two weeks after Defendant answers the Complaint. Any objections to discovery requests must be served within the time set by the Federal Rules. Other than objections, no party is required to respond substantively to discovery requests (e.g., respond to written discovery or produce documents) prior to 4 weeks (28 days) after the completion of the parties' private mediation. All fact discovery shall be commenced in time to be completed by 31 weeks (217 days) after the completion of the parties' private mediation.

Within 4 weeks (28 days) of receiving the fact witness lists, each Party shall serve a list of the rebuttal fact witnesses that it intends to call at trial. A party shall have the right to depose any such fact witnesses listed by an opposing party who have not previously been deposed in this case.
